THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Figure 1 consists of four heatmaps arranged in a 2x2 grid. Each heatmap displays the spatial distribution of the proportion of the population aged 65 and over in 2000 for different regions of England. The top row shows the proportion of the population aged 65 and over in 2000, and the bottom row shows the proportion of the population aged 65 and over in 2000. The left column shows the proportion of the population aged 65 and over in 2000, and the right column shows the proportion of the population aged 65 and over in 2000. The heatmaps show a clear spatial pattern, with higher proportions of the population aged 65 and over in the north and west of England, and lower proportions in the south and east of England.
